

Fall 2023 Process Update

October 11, 2023

After 18+ months of deep community engagement and detailed policy and technical work, the final drafts of Campus Vision 2050 (the Vision), the Housing Action Plan (HAP) and the amended Land Use Plan (LUP) are available for review.

The draft Vision, HAP and LUP have been shaped and refined through policy and technical planning work by internal and external subject matter experts in land use planning, urban design, transportation and ecology, reflecting public input throughout the process and ongoing engagement with Musqueam. Together the Vision, HAP and LUP will guide how UBC's Vancouver campus evolves over the next 30 years to support the university's academic mission and the needs of its community, campus residents and Musqueam.

To download the documents and for more information on each, visit: Final Drafts of Campus Vision 2050, the Land Use Plan and Housing Action Plan.

The three documents will be presented to the UBC Board of Governors at a special meeting on October 16th, where the Board will receive the Vision and HAP for information and consider referring the LUP to a legislatively required public hearing on the proposed amendments to the LUP. The changes to the LUP are needed to implement the Vision and the HAP. You can review the report prepared for the Board of Governors on the Board website\(External link\).

The purpose of the public hearing is to give community members and campus residents the opportunity to comment on the draft amended LUP. The comments will form part of a report to the UBC Board of Governors for consideration before making a decision to submit the amended LUP to the Province of BC for adoption.

After the Board formally refers the LUP to a public hearing, further details will be provided, including how you can participate.
